Food for Thought

Does Title IX help expecting or new parents?

The short answer is YES.

Title IX is a federal law that prohibits sex-based discrimination in any educational program or activity that receives federal funding.

This includes discrimination based on pregnancy, childbirth, termination of pregnancy, and parenting status.

You're safe.

Women's History Month

March is Women's History Month, so here's a quick history lesson! Women have been fighting for liberation and equity since the mid-1800s and are still fighting today. From voting rights, to workplace rights, to reproductive freedom, to education, to sexual liberation; women have had to fight for IT ALL. Women are STILL fighting for it all... The most recent steps forward you may be familiar with are the #MeTooMovement, bodily autonomy, and LGBTQ+ inclusion. We encourage you to find your space or topic that you are passionate about as it pertains to women's rights and advocate for what we know to be equitable and just.

Take a Look at What Xavier University's Campus Did This Month!

Violence Prevention Education and Advocacy at Xavier University hosted XU Talks on the Impact of Domestic Violence on Companion Animals. Around 350 students participated in learning about animal abuse and red flags in relationships. Students met a variety of dogs who were all victims of abuse on the road to recovery with Take Paws Rescue. Students learned about the correlation between animal abuse and intimate partner violence, as well as local resources for survivors. They also participated in a variety of stations with stress relieving activities geared towards survivors. Xavier, you're doing it and you're doing it well!
